- » Increase conversions rates alongside maximizing brand visibility

Challenges

Our Expert Report

1. In the past, Risk Management itself was a comparatively less-known field, even in developed economies like US and UK.

Our team was to firstly create awareness for the service first, and then introduce the brand. This had a distinct advantage. The potential for Risk Management services was huge. Hence, the right kind of content would actually propel the start-up company to greater heights.

2. The client had very little digital presence to project.

Being a start-up for a niche sector, this was more or less expected, hence the need. Comprehensive Digital marketing services were required to create brand awareness in UK as well as the other global markets.

3. Client was interested in cost effective digital solutions

The client didn't want to go for expensive digital branding services. They tried traditional direct marketing tools like print ads, hoardings and used radio for advertising their brand to a larger audience base instead, with little results.

Final Analysis:

Digital medium has larger coverage and has the advantage of delivering to all types of niche audience.

Though initial costs are high, digital marketing maintenance costs goes down dramatically after implementation.

Since the brand (and the field) was comparatively new, the basics needed to be covered. Good informative content could cover a huge ground for the company's digital presence.
